Westford Historic Commission
AGENDA

Sunday 9:30 am March 12th, 2023

Westford Historic Commission is meeting at 254 Concord Rd. to perform a walkover and review the demolition application of the property. The Demolition Bylaw is applicable for this historic property.

The ca. 1850 Victorian Eclectic style farmhouse at 254 Concord Road is a side-gabled, two and one-half story, five by one-bay form with a perpendicular rear addition and an ell built on the east elevation parallel to the main block. The house is distinguished by its rhythmic fenestration and recessed center entry with sidelights and cornice.

Windows have 2/2 and 2/1 double-hung sash. Walls are clad in vinyl clapboards, the roof in asphalt shingles and the foundation is built of cut granite. Brick chimneys rise from the west elevation and from the roof ridge of the ell. The ell is one and one-half story with frieze windows along the front elevation. No frieze or other evidence of Greek Revival style detail is in existence, although these windows may indicate an earlier construction date for this portion of the house. A two and one-half-story, front-gabled barn was attached to the east wall of the ell until structural deterioration forced its demolition in ca. 1995. A detached shed exists east of the house near the road. It is a one story, side-gabled form, built in the early 20th century. Exterior walls are clad in wood clapboards. A single door and two double-hung windows light the south elevation and a vehicle door gives access on the west. The shed is similar in form to the one at 76 Carlisle Road. The house and shed are in fair condition.
